ANTI-DISCRIMINATION GOOD PRACTICE GUIDE

1. Always make children feel valued and good about themselves.
2. Encourage all children to be involved.
3. Time taken to let children discuss their involvement with other children and staff.
4. Promote employees cultural, religious and disabilities and non-stereotypical roles through display and activities.
5. Use resources, which reflect this by role-play, books and equipment.
6. Provide activities to help children appreciate the value of each other's similarities and differences.
7. Always treat children as individuals. Try to find through discussion information all about them.
